

GAULISH

The whole Gallia has accepted the Empire supremacy for almost a century, becoming almost completely Roman. Traditional names merge with latins and greek, and often you can find mixed forms, where the final syllable is replaced by a latin ending, transforming Abarix, for example, in Abarus.

MALES

1. Abarix
2. Bodugnatix
3. Catugnatos
4. Dumnorix
5. Eporedorix
6. Gutuater
7. Indutiomaros
8. Lugorix
9. Moritasgos
10. Vercassivellaunos

FEMALES

1. Auntiona
2. Esunerta
3. Galata
4. Gesataia
5. Iomara
6. Lucteria
7. Matunna
8. Obalda
9. Sigovesa
10. Uebromara

GERMANS

Germany is the far border of the Empire, a land of impenetrable woods and blond barbarians with matchless fierceness. Rome's merchant go in its forests searching for wood, coal, wild beasts for the circus and slaves, but the germanic culture is still intact.

MALES

1. Adalwin
2. Brandt
3. Ediulf
4. Hermanric
5. Kunimund
6. Odovacar
7. Tautila
8. Thursmund
9. Veremund
10. Wulfila

FEMALES

1. Alda
2. Amalfrid
3. Amelin
4. Chlodowintha
5. Freidgund
6. Garsendis
7. Gosvintha
8. Hermesind
9. Liuva
10. Radegond

EGIPTIANS

Egypt is the Empire's granary and the crossroads of all Eastern Mediterranean. Since the conquest by Alexander the Great, Egypt absorbed nearly all the Greek's culture, language and names, but the ancient culture is still alive, and having a traditional name is often source of pride.

MALES

1. Amsi
2. Chibale
3. Djoser
4. Gahiji
5. Hanif
6. Jahi
7. Madu
8. Osaze
9. Ubait
10. Zahur

FEMALES

1. Auset
2. Bennu
3. Dendera
4. Eshe
5. Heqet
6. Ife
7. Jandayi
8. Kepri
9. Kaket
10. Lipis

GREEKS

Greek culture, exported by Alexander the Great, dominates the Mediterranean. Greek language and names are used from Macedonia to Spain, and Roman intellectuals speak Greek more than Latin. Greek slaves are very sought-after, and often they were employed as teachers and tutors of the offspring of patrician families. It is now common to hear Greek names even between the forums of Rome itself.

MALES

1. Admetos
2. Chreon
3. Epimenes
4. Lycus
5. Nikeratos
6. Onetas
7. Phaedo
8. Selagus
9. Xenokrates
10. Zosimus

FEMALES

1. Aganippe
2. Clymene
3. Galatea
4. Helice
5. Jocasta
6. Laodamia
7. Nysa
8. Procris
9. Roxane
10. Xene

NUBIANS

Meroe's reign, in Nubia, is since the beginning of time the traditional door linking Egypt (and therefore the Empire) to the Black Africa. From Nubia come powerfully build slaves and merchants trading gold, fur and ivory. The ancient alliance between Egypt and Meroe makes nubian names common even in the Nilum delta.

MALES

1. Abesye
2. Dbeti
3. Kdeyen
4. Meqelli
5. Nhli
6. Pheme
7. Qeseye
8. Seni
9. Tepeyemite
10. Smedeli

FEMALES

1. Ahpesli
2. Dekeli
3. Kditenye
4. Meneteli
5. Nhes
6. Piytmni
7. Qerenye
8. Sdenyeli
9. Teqnili
10. Yetenye

PERSIAS

In this time Persia is dominated by Parti, bitter enemies of Rome, blocking the expansion of the empire to the east. Greek culture deeply permeated even here, but the Parti keep fiercely their traditions and the names of their old monarchs.

MALES

1. Bahram
2. Gowad
3. Ihsan
4. Javid
5. Khorvash
6. Khurshid
7. Parviz
8. Syavash
9. Urvaksha
10. Zubin

FEMALES

1. Amaretat
2. Banu
3. Jaleh
4. Kohinoor
5. Laleh
6. Mahnaz
7. Nasrin
8. Shahanaz
9. Tahereh
10. Zulaikha